Admission.

Students are admitted at any time in the Term, but it is highly important to all students to enter at the commencement of the Term, when the regular classes are formed. It is a rule of the Academy, that no student be admitted for a less time than one half a Term, and the classes will be formed in observance of this rule, and tuition charged for that length of time.

Facilities are afforded to students to practice economy in their mode of living; and many young men have boarded themselves for half the prices above stated.

Female Department.

In this department instruction is given in the branches of English and Classical learning usually taught in Female Seminaries of the highest grade. There will be a vacation of two weeks immediately preceding the commencement of the Summer Term, one of six weeks, after the Summer Term, and one of two weeks, after the Fall Term.

Apparatus and Library.

Extensive additions have been made to the Academy Library, during the past year, and several hundred volumes consisting of the best productions of the English Language in every department of literature, have been added. We think that we hazard nothing in pronouncing it the best Academic Library in this section of the State. Every attending pupil of the Academy may enjoy the privilege of the Library. The Philosophical Apparatus has been much increased with several valuable instruments, so that a series of experiments sufficient for all academical purposes, or to aid the pupil in correctly understanding scientific subjects, may be made.

The apparatus belonging to the Academy is extensive, and is used to accompany the recitations and lectures on Natural Philosophy, Chemistry and Astronomy, with experiments and visible illustrations. The Library contains the class books used in the Academy, in studying the higher English branches. For the use of the class books a trifling charge is made All students have the benefit of the Apparatus and Library. Any student can have the use of books from the Library of the Calliopean Society by paying a small fee per term to the Treasurer of the Society.

The Calliopean Society

Is an association of young men of the Academy, formed for the purpose of debating, extemporaneous speaking, and other exercises for mutual improvement. The Library attached to the Society contains several hundred volumes, judiciously selected, and affords a great variety of useful reading.

General Remarks.

Parents and guardians are requested to communicate freely with the Teachers respecting the education of their children. Pupils will be required to attend the church their parents may designate.

No student will be permitted to remain a member of the Academy whose moral character is not good.

It is a rule of the Academy, that no student be permitted to leave previous to the examinations at the close of each Term, without producing satisfactory evidence that it is necessary.
